AGES 7-9 / A NOTE FOR GROWN-UPS

Welcome, detective

A picnic is nearly ready, but the friends need your help with twelve small mysteries. Read each rule, collect the clues and write or draw your answer. No timer is needed. You can work alone or with a grown-up. The cases use ordering, matching, arithmetic, a map and careful checking. Some children may need help reading. This is a printable activity book, not a learning assessment. All stories and puzzles were created for this edition. You do not need scissors, food or an outdoor trip. Use a pencil and the answer explanations at the back. Each case stands alone, so a difficult case will not block the next one.

Detective method

1. Read the rule and every clue.
2. Cross out choices that cannot work.
3. Write or draw your answer.
4. Check that your answer fits ALL the clues.
5. Use the explanations on pages 15-17 when you are ready.

Cases are on pages 3-14. A grown-up companion file includes a hint ladder. You may skip a case and come back. Try explaining your reasoning before checking the answer.

CASE 01 / COLLECT THE CLUES

The first arrivals

Asha, Ben and Chet arrive at the picnic gate. Can you put them in order?

1. Asha arrives before Ben.
2. Ben arrives before Chet.
3. Nobody arrives at the same time.

Write the names from first to last.

My check: does my answer fit every clue?
